

Need your medications right away?

If there is a change to your prescription or you have a new medication and need it filled right away, ask your doctor to write two prescriptions for your long-term medicine:

- One for a short-term supply (30 days or less with no refills) that can be filled at a retail pharmacy.
- One for the maximum days supply allowed by your plan (usually 90 days), with maximum refills. The prescriber should send us this script electronically.
